Catarrh
IS a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

THE TRACY HOLOCAUST.

The Secretary's Wife and Daughter Both Dead.

SELF SACRIFICE OF MRS. TRACY.

She Gave Her Life for That of Her Husband—Miss Mary Tracy and a Maid Smothered in Their Rooms—The Rescue of the Secretary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The news of the horror at the residence of Secretary Tracy, by which his wife, daughter and a maid lost their lives, created the most intense excitement in this city, and all day long the wrecked and blackened house was surrounded by immense throngs of people who shuddered as they looked upon the scene of desolation. Never before in the history of the cabinet has one of its members been thus horribly smitten by the hand of death, and beside this last event Secretary Blaine's recent bereavement pales into comparative insignificance. The latest details of the shocking affair are as follows:

The Story of the Fire.

Shortly after 7 a. m. Monday, a man passing the house saw smoke issuing from the windows. He at once gave the alarm by violently ringing the bell. Every one in the house was fast asleep and the lower portion of the residence was ablaze. The stairways were afire and the only chance of escape was by jumping. Several of the terror stricken occupants soon appeared at the windows of the second floor. Mrs. Wilmerding, the secretary's married daughter, and her child, Alice, aged 13 years, forced their way through the blinding smoke and jumped from the front second story window. Ladders were raised for them, but in their excitement they failed to see them. Mrs. Wilmerding broke her left wrist and was severely bruised. Her daughter was badly injured about the lower limbs, but broke no bones. They were taken at once to the residence of Dr. Baxter near by, and restoratives applied.

Mrs. Tracy's Heroism.

Mrs. Tracy gave her life for that of her husband. She could undoubtedly have escaped alive but for her heroic exertions to save him. They occupied the rear room on the second story. Everything would seem to indicate that Mrs. Tracy awoke to find the house ablaze and her husband unconscious at her side. With little thought for herself she caught him in her arms, and in her desperate efforts to drag him to a window ruptured a blood vessel. She then opened the window, and although the firemen were raising a ladder she did not wait, but plunged to the concrete court yard below. One leg was broken in the fall, but she died an hour later from the effects of the ruptured blood vessel.

The Secretary's Rescue.

When the firemen reached the scene the lower portion of the house was wrapped in flames. As soon as they knew that people were still in the burning building ladders were raised to the rear windows and Chief Parris dashed into the flaming structure. The chief tells his story of the scene in the house thus: "I felt my way through the smoke to the second floor and found a man in a room. I managed to drag him into a back room, where there was more air, and then broke the window out and called to Lowe, who was in the alley, to run up a ladder. Then they took the man out, and it proved to be the secretary.

SECRETARY TRACY.

Miss Tracy's Frightful Death.

"Then I went back into the smoke and fire again and found a young lady—Miss Mary Tracy, they told me it was—and as I caught hold of her wrists to lift her up the flesh came off her burned hands. I got her out, but she was dead. That exhausted me. I could do no more."

Miss Tracy had been suffocated by smoke and heat. She was taken out tenderly through a neighbor's house and down a ladder, and the best medical help was instantly at her side, but without avail. The features were unrecognizable, but certain peculiarities of apparel led to the identification of the body.

Another body badly burned was that of a servant, a French maid named Josephine.

The secretary was removed to the residence of Mr. Bancroft Davis near by, and was soon surrounded by physicians, who found him to be suffering from asphyxia. The doctors applied artificial means to induce respiration and succeeded, after an hour's work, in restoring him to semi-consciousness.

The President at the Scene.

President Harrison and Vice President Morton, hearing early of the catastrophe, were with Secretary Tracy soon after the latter regained partial consciousness. The sufferer asked piteously for news of his family, and the president was obliged to inform him of the true extent of his loss. It was unquestionably one of the saddest ordeals of the chief executive's life. He at first refused to answer the secretary's appeal, but his silence was taken as an ill omen, and he was obliged to tell the sufferer the truth. Secretary Tracy swooned and almost succumbed. He soon revived, however, and is improving as rapidly as possible. He will undoubtedly recover.

The Bodies at the White House.

The remains of Mrs. Tracy and those of her daughter, Miss Mary Tracy, were conveyed to the executive mansion last night and placed in the East room, where they will remain until the funeral arrangements shall have been completed. It is quite probable that the funeral will take place from the executive mansion. Gen. Catlin, of Brooklyn, the brother of Mrs. Tracy, who will decide about the funeral arrangements, arrived here from Brooklyn last night.

Secretary Tracy is still at the residence of Bancroft Davis and will probably remain there until to-night. President Harrison said to the United Press representative last night that he thought in Secretary Tracy's present depressed and prostrated condition it would be imprudent to move him to the executive mansion, but that he thought that some time today he could be removed with safety. The secretary is suffering from the inhalation of smoke, and his lungs in consequence are extremely weak.

The fire, it is believed, started in the front parlor near the open fireplace. Whether it originated from the open grate or from overheated furnace pipes is not known. The framework adjoining the mantel was where the fire started, and it, no doubt, burned some time before it was discovered. The furnace is in the basement, directly beneath where the fire started, and the pipes leading to the upper stories pass in the rear of the woodwork of the mantel. The firemen generally think that the woodwork caught fire from the overheated pipes.

Mrs. Tracy's Last Words.

Mrs. McKee gives a touching account of the president's visit to Mrs. Tracy just before the latter's death. He found her lying upon a low couch in the little frame dwelling to which she had been carried. Mrs. Tracy, though suffering intensely, recognized the president at once, whispered a few farewell messages to her husband, her daughters and son into his ear, and then, with her hand clasped in that of the president, passed quietly away.

Mrs. Wilmerding and her daughter are resting comfortably at the residence of Lieut. Mason. Miss Wilmerding is well enough to be in constant attendance upon her mother.

The Dead Girl's Boudoir.

The pretty boudoir of Miss Mary Tracy, furnished in blue and gold, presented a pathetic picture. Over the tasteful art square was scattered bric-a-brac broken in pieces. Her favorite books were burned and covered with dirt and scattered all about by the stream of water that came too late to save her young life. But the most pathetic thing of all were the dead pets. She was very fond of pets. They will not miss her, however, for they, too, passed away when she did. At the foot of the bed was the poodle dog, which she had often petted. Around its neck was a blue ribbon tied by her hands. Two canaries that used to awaken her from her dreams in the morning lay in the bottom of their cage, and as a policeman passed the door and stopped to look in he drew the sleeve of his coat over his eyes and hurried down stairs.

The house was completely gutted and the furniture is a total loss. Its value is estimated at $8,000. The place was magnificently furnished, all of the furniture being new.

Sketches of the Deceased.

Mrs. Tracy was the sister of Gen. Isaac S. Catlin, the distinguished Brooklyn lawyer, and her maiden name was Delinda E. Catlin. She was a woman of pleasing appearance, of fair complexion, with blue eyes and light hair, and was sixty years of age. She was an earnest and willing worker in the Episcopal church, ready at all times to devote herself to the church interests, but at the same time she was fond of society and one of the most agreeable of women, either as a guest or host. Gen. Tracy himself spoke of her fondly and proudly as "an excellent woman and wife and a good mother." Mrs. Tracy's family included, besides her husband and herself, three children and a grandchild, the last mentioned being Alice Tracy Wilmerding, the 13-year-old daughter of the secretary's eldest daughter, Mrs. Emma L. Wilmerding.

THE TRACY MANSION.

The other children were Frank B. Tracy, who remained in Brooklyn when the family moved to Washington, and Miss Farrington Tracy, the daughter who shared the mother's terrible fate.

At the time Gen. Tracy went to Washington Miss Mary was sick and Mrs. Tracy remained for a time in Brooklyn, giving her daughter the benefit of her tender motherly care. Miss Mary was like her mother in appearance and had the same pleasant and cheerful ways. She had host of friends in Brooklyn, who were full of regret at her departure for the capital and who will feel deeply her distressing fate. Miss Mary was a gifted artist, and spent three years at Paris under the tuition of the great French painter, Charles Champlain.

Four Seamen Drowned.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—The British steamship Glasgow, from Coatzacoalcos, Jan. 29, reports that the British steamship Black Prince, from Newport, Wales, at Coatzacoalcos, was detained off the bar at that port from Jan. 15 to Jan. 25. During that period a boat containing Capt. Milburn, while attempting to cross Coatzacoalcos bar, was swamped and two seamen drowned. The boat that was sent from the Black Prince to rescue the occupants of the first boat was also swamped, and the second officer and one seaman of the boat were also drowned. Capt. Milburn and the remainder of the crew of the two boats were rescued by a pilot boat.

The New Republic Recognized.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The completion of the formal recognition of the United States of Brazil occurred at the executive mansion yesterday afternoon, when Dr. Valente, the new minister accredited by the provisional government, and Mr. Mendonca, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary on a special mission to this country, called and presented their credentials to President Harrison. Secretary Blaine accompanied the two representatives of the new Brazilian government, and presented them to the president. The ceremonies took place in the blue room and were marked by great cordiality.

Lounsbery's Defalcation $47,350.52.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Postmaster Van Cott makes the official announcement that the defalcation of the late Cashier Lounsbery amounts to $47,350.52, as follows: Deficiency in cash balance, $23,904.51; deficiency in postage stamps, envelopes, cards, etc., $18,500; deficiency in advances of salaries and other items of account current, $2,658.72; advances on requisitions, $2,059; amount due employes from funds on hand and not paid, $228.29. Total, $47,350.52.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

Condensed Report of Proceedings in Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The senate further debated the Chandler "Mississippi outrage" resolution. The direct tax bill was passed also. A memorial from the Augusta (Me.) board of trade favoring New York as the site for the World's fair was presented and referred; also a memorial by Mr. Chandler for the establishment of a republican form of government in Mississippi. Mr. Morrill introduced the bill authorizing the issue of treasury notes on deposits of silver bullion and asked its reference to the committee on finance, and asked that a bill prepared by Secretary Windom to the same purpose be printed and referred. On motion of Mr. Sherman, senate bill to relieve the treasurer of the United States from the amounts now charged to him and deposited with the several states was taken up from the calendar and passed, the amounts to be charged to an appropriation hereby created for that purpose aggregating $28,101,644.

The direct tax bill was taken up and after debate the bill passed by a vote of 44 to 7.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—When the West Virginia election case was brought up in the house the Democrats present refused to vote. Speaker Reed read a list of the Democrats not voting and declared that a quorum was present. The decision provoked a very bitter debate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The wrangle over Speaker Reed's decision was continued in the house over the adoption of the previous day's journal. The Democrats again refused to vote, and the speaker announced a quorum present as on the previous day. After a very acrid debate, the decision of the speaker was sustained.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The senate listened to speeches by Senators Vance and Hampton on the race question. Mr. Vance's speech took a humorous turn and was frequently applauded. He said that for the sake of the negro we are today threatened not only with political affliction but with a servile war, whose weapons shall be the midnight torch and the assassin's dagger, and whose victims shall be sleeping women and children. He criticised Mr. Ingall's remarks as pyrotechnics, concealing paucity of ideas. There was plenty of room for the negro in the northern and western states. "If," said he, "the negro is a good thing, let us divide him."

Mr. Hampton addressed the senate at some length. He denied the statement of the senator from Kansas (Mr. Ingalls) based on a newspaper extract, that he was in favor of the extermination of the negro. He favored no such horrible policy. He turned the tables against Mr. Ingalls by quoting from the Atlanta Constitution the following extract: "Unless history is a false teacher, it is not possible for two distinct races, not homogeneous, to exist on terms of political equality under the same government. One or the other must go to the wall." "And that," said Mr. Hampton, "is signed 'J. J. Ingalls.'"

At the conclusion of Mr. Hampton's speech the bill went over without action.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The warfare over the speaker's decision in counting against their will Democrats present but not voting, continued today in the house. Mr Bynum vigorously arraigned the speaker in very strong terms and abused the Republican party. The West Virginia election contest came up, but no action was taken on it.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—In the house the Smith-Jackson contested election case again came up, and after a spirited fight, during which the speaker continued his former tactics of counting Democrats present but not voting, Smith, Republican, was seated by a vote of 166 to 0. Mr. Smith was sworn in and the house adjourned.

BANK WRECKERS' WORK.

Two New York Institutions Have Been Closed.

"ANOTHER IVES-STAYNER CASE."

The Sixth National and Lenox Hill Banks Ruined by Alleged Dishonest Practices. Nearly Half a Million Missing—Who Has the Money?

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A most startling condition of affairs has been brought to light by United States Bank Commissioner A. B. Hepburn, who took possession of the Sixth National bank at Thirty-fourth street and Broadway, and was busy examining its accounts all day. It has been discovered that the new president of the bank, P. J. Classen, who went into office only two days ago, has since attempted to dispose of $622,000 of the bank's securities, consisting of gilt edged bonds of a market value of over $800,000. All but $250,000 of these bonds have been sold, and where the money has gone is yet unknown. Mr. Classen represents the syndicate which last week bought out the interest of Charles H. Leland, the former president of the bank, and assumed control on Tuesday.

A Significant Notice.

In the morning the bank was closed and the following notice written on a sheet of note paper was tacked to the door:

I have taken possession of this bank as United States bank examiner in behalf of the controller of the currency at Washington, D. C., who will give such further orders as may be necessary. A careful examination is being made of the assets and liabilities. A. B. HEPBURN,
United States Bank Commissioner.

The doors of the bank were surrounded by a crowd of panic stricken depositors all the morning, and very little information could be gleaned from the bank commissioner and his assistants, who were at work inside, as to the actual situation. At 11:30 o'clock Commissioner Hepburn issued the following preliminary statement:

Examiner Hepburn's Statement.

"Mr. Leland sold 1,035 shares of stock, a controlling interest, to the parties at present in control of the bank, at 650, and gave them possession Jan. 22. On Jan. 23, $622,000 par value of high priced bonds belonging to the bank were delivered to Pell, Wallace & Co., and a receipt taken reading as follows:

"'Received, New York, Jan. 23, 1890, of the Sixth National bank of New York, the following named bonds, to be sold for account of said bank and accounted for to its president as he may demand.'

"There was no entry on the books of the bank to show any disposition of the bonds. The stock book called for the original amount. I found the $622,000 bonds gone and demanded their restoration, or funds to represent their market value. I went with the president, P. J. Classen, to Pell, Wallace & Co., who said that about $400,000 of the bonds had been sold and checks sent to the bank, and that the remaining bonds were with different brokers for sale, and that they would get and return them.

Nipped in the Bud.

"They brought to me $201,000 of the bonds. The checks offered for the balance could not be accepted. The above, together with other matters affecting the bank, rendered the temporary closing of the bank imperative. If the gentlemen in charge carry out the promises or assurances given the controller will undoubtedly reopen the bank. I do not think depositors will lose anything. The object in taking possession was to insure that. Gentlemen, that is all."

In addition to this Mr. Hepburn stated that the situation was further complicated by the fact that not one of the new directors had yet qualified by taking the oath of office as required by law.

History of the Bank.

The Sixth National bank was organized in 1864, and last week Mr. Leland, the president, disposed of his interest to the syndicate which has been in control for the last two days. The new board consists of P. J. Classen, a stock broker, of No. 45 Broadway; D. M. Ripley, president of the Kings County Elevated road; J. Kenneth Watson and H. T. Cutter, who recently bought out the drug store of Alexander Hudnut in Broadway. The bank was regarded as one of the soundest financial concerns in the city, and had a very large surplus, according to its last report. Its stock very recently sold as high as $350 a share in the market.

Discovered by the Cashier.

Andrew D. Colson, who has been cashier of the bank for twenty-two years, was the first to discover that any irregularities had been going on, his suspicions being aroused by seeing the receipt which is mentioned in Commissioner Hepburn's statement. He at once notified the commissioner.

They Were Audacious Bank Wreckers.

Commissioner Hepburn stated last night that thus far the missing bonds, par value $421,000, market value $482,466, are still missing. There are loans of $180,000, for which the security on hand is very dubious. There are also $88,000 of protested notes of Broker George H. Pell, who is said by some to have schemed the whole transaction. The other assets seem to be all right. Mr. Hepburn's report to the controller of the currency will be ready to-night, and the appointment of a receiver will speedily follow. He says it was the most audacious case of bank wrecking in the history of this city.

The Lenox Hill Bank Fails.

The new directory of the Sixth National bank is interested in the Lenox Hill bank at 1,248 Third avenue. In consequence of the trouble at the former bank the Lenox Hill has failed. The president of the Lenox Hill bank is Charles E. Wallack, a son of the late Lester Wallack. He went in with the new board of directors on Dec. 19. There was $40,000 cash on hand when the bank opened in the morning. By great effort $20,000 more was procured. The entire $60,000 had been paid out to depositors by noon and the cashier closed the doors.

The Bank's Condition.

The financial condition of the bank is about as follows: Deposits, $270,000; capital paid in, $100,000; loans and discounts, $300,000; amount due other banks, $50,000. The directors are liable for twice the amount of their shares. It is stated that at the same time the Lenox Hill bank changed hands a syndicate acquired control of four institutions—the Lenox Hill, Sixth National, Equitable and St. Nicholas banks. J. A. Simmons, who obtained a controlling interest in the Lexon Hill bank, was a prime mover in the syndicate.

"Another Ives-Stayner Case."

Frederick D. Tappan, president of the Gallatin National bank and a member of the clearing house committee, says that the proceeds of the sale of stocks and securities belonging to the Sixth National bank were used to pay the certified checks which had been given to Mr. Leland, the former president, for his 1,035 shares of stock. These checks were drawn upon several banks, including the Lenox Hill and Equitable. Mr. Tappan denounced the transaction as "another Ives-Stayner case." He explained that the purchasers were given possession of the bank on payment of the certified checks, and then sold the securities they found in the vaults, and deposited the proceeds in the clearing house to meet the certified checks. Mr. Tappen added that counsel for Mr. Leland has announced that any deficit in the assets will be paid by Mr. Leland in full.

Mr. Tappan further stated that in his opinion the price paid to Mr. Leland for his stock was excessive.

Pell Under Arrest.

George H. Pell was arrested at his home last evening and taken to Ludlow street jail, where he was locked up. A warrant is also out for Classen.

The Equitable Fails, Too.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—As a natural sequel to the sensational chapter in the history of bank wrecking the Equitable bank in West Twenty-eighth street suspended yesterday. It was hoped and believed that this bank would be able to weather the storm which has involved the Sixth National and the Lenox Hill banks in ruin.

Classen Under Arrest.

About 6 o'clock last night President Classen appeared before the United States commissioner with his counsel and two deputy United States marshals, and the warrant charging him with embezzlement and misappropriation of funds was read to him. He was paroled in the custody of the marshals and his counsel. This was in accordance with an arrangement made in advance, that if Classen would give himself up he should not be put in jail for the night.

LELAND GOES BACK.

He Reassumes the Presidency of the Sixth National Bank.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Sixth National bank was held yesterday afternoon, at which the directory of that institution was completely reorganized. It was announced that ex-President Leland had bought back all his 1,035 shares of stock which he had sold to Classen and his associates, and was ready to reassume the control of the bank. In making this announcement United States Bank Examiner Hepburn said he had just received from President Frederick D. Tappen, of the Gallatin bank, on behalf of the syndicate, Mr. Tappen's check for $280,000. This, in addition to Mr. Leland's $500,000, Mr. Hepburn said, made the Sixth National bank solvent. He said he was authorized by the comptroller of the currency to turn the assets of the Sixth National bank over to the new board of directors. He reports the amount due depositors as $1,898,207; cash on hand, $700,000; gilt edge securities on hand, $983,835; secured loans, bills receivable, etc., $400,000. The bank is amply able to meet all demands.

Charles H. Leland was elected president and Charles H. Landon vice-president. The following board of directors was chosen: C. H. Leland, C. J. Landon, Joseph Park, W. J. Quinlan, jr., cashier of the Chemical bank, and F. D. Tappan, president of the Gallatin bank. The new board of directors is a very strong and safe one. Mr. Colson, whose vigilance saved the bank from ruin, remains as cashier. There are, it is said, funds at the command of the bank at the present time sufficient to pay every obligation to depositors in full. The bank opened this morning.

A large crowd gathered in front of the Lenox Hill bank in the morning in answer to a notice that a meeting of depositors was to be called at the bank building. Mr. Goodheart, the lawyer of the bank, came out and stated that no meeting could be held in the bank. He assured them that arrangements had been made by which all claims of depositors would be met dollar for dollar. Three hundred depositors then held a meeting at Lenox hall. They elected officers and a committee of nine to act with the president and secretary to consult counsel and protect depositors.

The Equitable bank did not open as promised, but it undoubtedly will soon.

Ex-President Claassen, of the Sixth National bank, and Broker Pell were unable to furnish bail and are still in Ludlow street jail.

A CENTURY OLD.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The opening exercises of the centennial celebration of the supreme court of the United States occurred at the Metropolitan opera house this morning and were attended by an immense throng. Phelps, of Burlington, Vt., then spoke on the relation of the court to the permanent administration of justice in enforcing the supreme law of the land as the guardian of civil liberty, [illegible] rights [illegible] the perpetuity of the Union. Polish Women Lead a Mob at Buffalo. Several People Hurt.

BUFFALO, Feb. 3.—Another riot occurred Sunday at St. Adelbert's church, where a factional quarrel over a change of priests has been going on for a long time. No one was killed and the police finally dispersed the mob. Special Officer Lyons, of the Fifth precinct, had his shoulder blade broken by a brick.

Dr. Cuyler Resigns.

BROOKLYN, Feb. 3.—At the conclusion of the morning service in the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian church, Sunday, Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler resigned the pastorate of the church, which he has filled for thirty years. He is 69 years old and has been in the ministry forty-four years. Declining strength and failing powers were the reasons for his retirement. Dr. Cuyler is one of the most prominent and widely known clergymen in the country, and his fame as a writer and orator is world wide. Under his ministry the Lafayette Avenue church has grown from a membership of 150 to one of 2,300, and is the largest Presbyterian congregation in the United States. Dr. Cuyler was born at Aurora, N. BUFFALO, Feb. 4.—A special from Danville, N. Y., says: Inquiries have poured in here from New York asking the truth of rumors that Gen. Lester Faulkner shammed death last week to escape imprisonment. Faulkner's death and burial were as stated in the United Press dispatches of last week.

BLOOMSBURG, PA.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1890.

The sympathy of the whole country will go out towards Secretary Blaine and his family in their sad bereavement. In little more than a month a brother of Mr. Blaine, a sister of Mrs. Blaine, Walker Blaine the favorite son, have died, and on Sunday last Mrs. Coppinger, eldest daughter of the Secretary died at her father's house in Washington. Secretary Blaine is prostrated by this succession of afflictions.

While Secretary Blaine's daughter was lying dead in Washington the wife and daughter of Secretary of the Navy Tracy lost their lives. The residence of Mr. Tracy burned on Monday morning, and Mrs. Tracy was killed by jumping from a window, and the daughter was burned to a crisp. The Secretary is suffering from the effects of inhaling smoke.

At the recent meeting of the State Editorial Association at Harrisburg J. Irvin Steel, editor of the Ashland Advocate, was elected President for the ensuing year. Mr. Steel is one of the oldest members of the organization and has helped to make it what it is. He is a gentleman of education, delightful manners, good looks, and of course being an editor is necessarily possessed of great wealth. While honoring him, the Association has honored itself in selecting as its presiding officer, one so capable and worthy.

As no business is done in the Sullivan county courts on the first day of the term until three o'clock in the afternoon owing to the fact that the President Judge cannot get to Laporte until that time, the Dushore Review wants the associates to charge the grand jury and have all the routine work done by the time the Judge arrives. There are some things that associate Judges are very useful for, but to charge the grand jury requires a wide knowledge of the law that associate Judges do not ordinarily possess. It may be different in Sullivan county.

JUDGE M. W. JACKSON.

On Monday last Mordecai W. Jackson of Berwick was appointed by Gov. Beaver an associate judge of Columbia county, to fill the vacancy caused by death of Judge McHenry. Judge Jackson took his seat on the Bench on Wednesday. He was born in 1815 in Berwick and has always resided there. By his business management he built up a large indrusty now known as the Jackson & Woodin Manufacturing Company, and has accumulated a fortune. He is a republican and a member of the Methodist church. His fitness for the office is undoubted though his term of service will be brief, expiring with the present year.

The Montana Robbery.

The decision of a partisan Court in Montana may make the Republican Legislrture "legal," but it does not make it rightful.

The merits of the case were not passed upon by the Court. It simply decided that the certificate of the State Canvassing Board is prima facie evidence of membership in the Legislature. The State Canvassing Board threw out the vote of the Silver Bow District because it had the temerity to give a large Democratic majority. There was no charge of fraud, no proof of illegality. If the miners of the Silver Bow District had voted the Republican ticket there would have been no contest and no disfranchisement. But seeing an opportunity to gain five members and elect two United States Senators by the simple process of throwing out this district, the pupils and emissaries of Dudley and Quay "put up," that job. The Republican State Returning Board executed it. Mr. Harrison's Republican Court has sustained it.

This is the whole story. It is a clear case of the Republican stealing a State which they failed to carry. And the beneficiaries of this robbery have the monumental impudence to pose as the chosen champions of honest elections and the exemplars of political moral. —World.

Constables Terms.

JUDGE ROCKEFELLER, AT SUNBURY, SAYS THEY SHALL SERVE THREE YEARS.

Judge Rockefeller was consulted by attorneys from Shamokin in regard to the terms constables shall serve. He said he meant them to serve three years and will swear in no other constables, even if they are elected, and will hold to that unless he is reversed by the Supreme Court. He has not given it as an opinion, but says he will rule that way until reversed by a higher court.

He was then asked how it affected the high constable of Shamokin, and replied that he had sworn him in for three years. One consultation, however he decided that the high constable was a borough officer and the law did not affect him and that he would reconsider or recall the three years' commission granted. This will settle the question of the terms of constables for this county, at least until the Supreme Court decides the question.

20 Per Cent.

Extra Inducement Sale.

Our season for selling winter goods is getting short. We must carry over stock or "extra induce" buyers. We therefore decide by a timely sacrifice to convert goods into cash, by giving this unusual discount:—

Twenty per cent. off from regular marked prices, which gives the buyer goods at net cost.

During thirty-three years of business it is our proud record to have won a reputation for avoiding all misrepresentations and keeping all our promises, and this is not one low bait-price to catch average profits, but is a well-defined, broad gauge policy to "extra induce" buyers, and turn a long winter's stock in a short season.

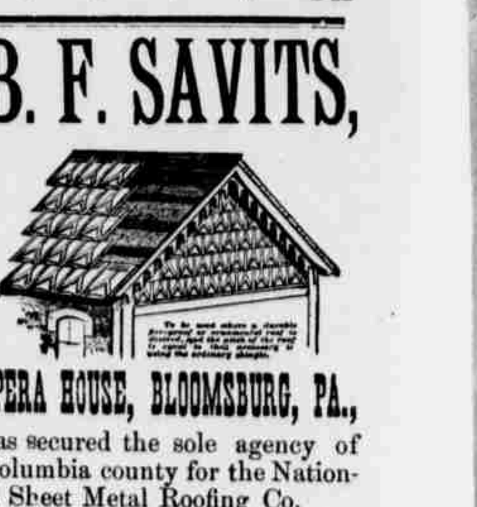

This 20 per cent. discount includes our entire stock of Ready-made Clothing — with Blue and Black goods, at ten per cent.

There are men who always have a pleasant word for the editor, and speak in complimentary terms of his paper. These are they who pay in advance. There are others who come in and order the paper stopped, with the remark that "there is nothing in it, anyhow." These are the ones who take a paper for years without paying for it, pay no attention to notices in the paper, nor to statements sent by mail, until at the end of six or seven years they are notified by a justice that they must pay up. Then they come in very indignant and settle and discontinue, with the above remark. It is fortunate that such men are not numerous.

Rev. P. A. Heilman was formaly installed as pastor of the Lutheran Church last Sunday, February 2. In the morning Rev. Dr. Born of Selinsgrove, preached the sermon to the people. It was an interesting sermon illustrating how pastor and people should work together to perform a grand work. In the evening the installation services proper were conducted, the sermon was delivered by Rev. J. Wagner, of Hazleton, president of the Susquehanna Synod. After the sermon the church council were called forward, and surrounding the newly elected pastor the rite of installation was performed. The services were very impressive, and the vast audience seemed very much pleased that they were permitted to be present upon this special occasion.

Trial of Amos Appleman.

Amos Appleman was indicted by the grand jury for wantonly pointing fire arms, for horse stealing, and for assault with intent to commit a felony. The case was taken up on Tuesday morning and a jury called. District attorney Billmeyer E. H. & R. R. Little represented the Commonwealth and the defendant was represented by James Scarlet, W. K. West of Danville and Grant Herring. A motion was made by the defence to quash the indictment on account of alleged ambiguity, making the indictment charge the defendant with no crime. In order to meet the objection the indictment was amended by leave of court. The defendant then refused to plead, and the court ordered the clerk to enter a plea of not guilty. The jury was then selected and was composed as follows, B. L. Cole, H. C. Labauch, William Neyhart, Wesley Sones, Charles Wanick, Amos Hile, G. W. Reifsnyder, Daniel Walborn, D. K. C. Kile, W. H. Hess, Milton Adams, J.S. Campbell.

After the jury was sworn District Attorney Billmeyer opened the case.

J. P. Tustin was the first witness, cashier of the First National Bank of Bloomsburg, Saw Appleman on January 7: he came in bank soon before 12 o'clock, walked around behind counter, drew a pistol, aimed it at me, and said he must have $1000. Not getting money he began to retreat toward the door. I told him we would have no trouble about it, would talk the thing over, I followed him to door, and as he reached it he drew pistol again and said he would shoot if pursued. Was about 8 feet from me when he first drew pistol, and about 3 feet from my daughter, Edward, my son, was in the vault, sealing a package of money, and closed the vault doors making a slight noise, and Appleman began to retire. About time he left the bank, Edward started out after him, and I went out for a policeman, could not find one, went to sheriff's office, and then to a justice's office and got a warrant.

CROSS-EXAMINED BY MR. WEST.

Never saw Appleman until he came into the bank. Knew he had a pistol, cant describe it, I got up to defend the bank. He did not present a check, and I did not tell anyone so

Edward Tustin was the next witness and testified substantially the same as his father as to what occurred in the bank. As to what took place afterward he said that he left the bank and called to William Eyerly and to Elmer Brugler to follow the man, who was going down Market street. Heard the man had rode out of town and gone up the creek. Went up the creek with Sheriff's son, and hunted about two hours. Next day John S. Williams, Rebman of Danville myself, and driver went towards Washingtonville and overtook Appleman, Williams called to him, I covered him with my pistol and told him to throw up his hands, which he did. We handcuffed him and took him to Danville and then to Bloomsburg by train. Appleman said he had been drunk about a week or he wouldn't have done it, that he was sorry for it. Before the justice he acknowledged that he was the man. Said he got the horse near Presbyterian church.

On cross-examination nothing new was brought out, except that some one had a a bottle of whiskey and gave Appleman some of it while going back to Danville after the arrest. Witness thought Appleman was not drunk then.

Miss Mary Tustin, assistant in the bank, corroborated the previous witnesses, concerning what took place in the bank.

W. P. Eyerly sworn. Saw Appleman look in bank window, and walk up street, pretty soon he came back, and went into bank. When he came out Ed Tustin came out and called "come on," went down Market street to new Presbyterian church where a horse was tied; Appleman got on horse and I said "hold on," then he drew pistol and told me not to touch the horse. I stepped right back. Appleman rode out Fourth street, and went up the alley by Methodist church. Have known Appleman 25 years.

Elmer Brugler sworn. About half past 11 saw Appleman run down Market street to the church, get on a horse and go out Fourth street, saw Ed Tustin who told me what the man had done, I went home, got a horse and a pistol and went up the creek with Housel, found the horse tied to a tree about two miles out, brought the horse back and P. S. Harman's son took it home. When I first saw Appleman at the church I took a stone and told him not to untie the horse; he drew a pistol and said "stand back." I stood back.

C. E. Savage sworn. On 7th of January little before noon saw a man sit down on my store step a few minutes, then get up and walked down street. It was Amos Appleman.

P. S. Harman sworn. Live on Iron street my mare was out of the stable at noon time without my knowledge. It was brought back and I went out too look at it, it was all mud and looked as though it had been ridden hard.

T. L. Smith sworn. Work in Sloans shops. Tried to head Appleman off in the alley, he drew his revolver and said dont touch that horse. It was near the Methodist church, as he passed me the hit the horse on the side of the neck, he was urging the horse on, but it didnt do much good.

Prosecution rests.

J. P. Bare sworn. Live in Danville Justice of the peace, have known Appleman since 1858, saw him once a week up to 1861, in 1863 he joined my regiment; didnt see anything of him until 1869 or 70 then he came to Danville, and have seen him frequently. Before war he was like any respectable young man. Since 1870 he has drank a good deal, seemed stupid.

David Ruckle sworn. Live in Danville, have known Appleman for 18 or 20 years. Saw him nearly every day during 1887. Once he got drunk and came home and laid down on the railroad track. He is not a reliable man. Dont think he is capable.

Charles W. Childs sworn Live in Danville, have known Appleman 30 years. First thought him a very nice young man, until after he was in the war; last 15 or 20 years talks to himself and acts queer, leaves his work and goes off without saying anything to anybody. Thought he acted as many insane men I've seen. Drank more or less.

Erastus Flick sworn. Live in Danville, have known Appleman 20 years. Saw him from 1866 on, and generally he was intoxicated. Sit around stopid, and talk to himself. Farmed at one time.

George Robinson sworn. Live in Valley township, Montour county. Known Appleman since 1863, met him in army, he was run over by an army wagon, saw him in the hospital, since then he has generally been drunk when I see him.

John Brennan sworn. Live in Montour county. Have known Appleman 4 or 5 years, seen him daily during past eighteen months, and talked with him, he worked for me, dont think he is responsible for his acts, goes off and leaves his work an hour or so, then come back, did it several times, quarrel with the girl if the victuals didnt suit him, talk around and mutter to himself, was drunk three-fourths of the time.

John Dennis sworn. Live in Montour county, have known Appleman 18 months, seen him twice a week, cant say whether he is sane or insane, have seen him drunk, and muttering to himself.

Dr. S. Y. Thompson sworn. Live in Danville, practicing physician, have known Appleman 15 years, met him frequently during past three years, dont think him of sound mind, cant say just why, but from an accumulation of circumstances; I am one of examiners for Insane Hospital.

Defense rests.

W. P. Eyerly recalled in rebuttal. Have known Appleman 20 years, cousin of my first wife, have not seen him for four years, he was not of unsound mind then. The creek road taken by Appleman has hills and trees and old mines.

J. W. Sheep sworn. Live in Bloomsburg, known Appleman 20 years, worked for me as teamster over a year ago, for two weeks; my opinion was that he was of sound mind.

Evidence closed Wednesday morning at 10.30. Mr. Scarlet addressed the jury for the defense and R. R. Little closed for the prosecution.

Judge Ikeler then charged the jury, and they were sent out at 12 o'clock. At the calling of court at 2 o'clock a verdict was rendered finding the defendant guilty of attempt to rob.

Court Proceedings.

The regular term of February court opened on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, President Judge E. R. Ikeler on the bench. After hearing a number of motions and reading opinions the grand jury was sworn. W. F. Bodine was appointed foreman. After the court had begun to charge the grand jury one of the jurors who had not answered to his name took his seat in the box. Judge Ikeler stated that it was too late to swear a grand juror after the others had been sworn and the charge begun. The juror was excused. The charge of the court dealt principally with the crimes of larceny and attempted robbery, as no other indictments of importance would be laid before the grand jury.

Five persons summoned as grand jurors failed to report. The court stated that it was to be regretted that all could not be permitted to serve who were now present, as no doubt some were delayed by bad roads, but the court had waited an hour before calling the list, and the business could not be delayed. A fine of $10 was imposed on all who reside in the county and have not appeared. From statements volunteered by persons in the court room it appeared that one was dead, one excused, and three moved from the county, so that no one of the absent grand jurors was left upon whom to impose a fine.

The returns of constables were taken in court.

The following order was made by the court:

"Now, Feb. 3, 1890, it appearing that there are nine cases on the trial list that are not regularly at issue by the pleadings, it is ordered and directed that hereafter in making up the list the Prothonotary shall omit from the list all cases ruled for trial for the current term, that do not appear upon the record to be at issue, as required by the Rules of Court."

Witnesses were called in behalf of M. Q. Moore, applicant for transfer of license of Espy Hotel. No opposition.

The application of John Monroe for restaurant license in Conyngham township, was heard, having been continued from January 20. Several witnesses were called on behalf of applicant. No opposition.

Associate Judge, C. E. Murphy, arrived at 11 a. m. and took his seat on the bench.

Com. vs. Mathias Brobst. The defendant was charged with being disorderly and using indecent language in the presence of women, in Catawissa. Miss Sarah Kistler testified that Brobst came to her house in the evening and made a noise, danced on the porch, yelled, and committed a nuisance on the porch. Miss Eva Bankes and a young man named Rhawn corroborated her. There was evidence that Miss Bankes, and Rhawn, and Miss Hittle and a boy named Hawes were in the house at the time. The defendant said that he went to the house of Miss Kistler knowing that the Hittle girl was there; he inquired for her and was told she was not there. He denied using improper language or doing anything more than dance on the porch. The prosecutrix made an eloquent appeal for protection from such conduct. After consultation, the court called the defendant up and said that he had, no doubt, been guilty of bad conduct, and that the prosecutrix had also been indiscreet in permitting girls and boys to come to her house in the evenings as they had been doing, though there was no evidence of any improper conduct. Brobst having been in jail for sixty days, was sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and costs.

Com. vs. Geo. John, Surety of the peace. Defendant sentenced to pay costs, and enters into his own recognizance in the sum of $100 to keep the peace for one year.

Bench warrants issued for Casper Rhawn, Conrad Markle, Mathias Brobst and Wm. Bowers.

"Now, February 3, 1890, as a standing order the Prothonotary is hereby authorized and directed to enter judgment upon precipe for want of an appearance, for want of a declaration or plea, or for want of an affidavit of defense, and to enter judgment thereon with the same effect as though moved for in open court, in accordance with Rule 25, Sec. 4 of this court, and as provided by Act of Assembly of April 22, 1889, P. L. 41. By the Court."

A Swindler.

A young man giving the name of Fred Swelley has been soliciting subscriptions to the Williamsport Sun & Banner in the upper part of the county recently. Those who paid him money have not received any papers yet, and never will, for he is a swindler. Hearing of several persons whose subscriptions he took, saying he had an office in Bloomsburg in Lockards block and telling many other falsehoods, a letter of inquiry was written to the Sun & Banner and a reply has been received saying that no such man is employed by that paper.

Never sign your name, nor pay money to a stranger unless you are sure you are right.

A Happy Event.

During the evening of the 30th of January, a very pleasant occasion occurred at the residence of Mr. John Miller, of Madison Twp. it being the marriage of his daughter, Miss Maggie to Mr. John Wampole of New Columbia. At a few minutes after six, Miss Eva Masteller played the wedding march, while the bride and groom, and their attendants, passed into the parlor where they were in due time made man and wife by Rev. Glaze of Espy. After many congratulations all repaired to the dining room, where everything desirable for the inner man was glowing in in abundance. The choir, of which the bride was a member, was invited and after singing a few beautiful selections, all repaired to their respective abodes, feeling that they had enjoyed themselves. The presents were numerous, beautiful, useful, and quite a number ornamental. Their many friends sincerely join in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous journey through the pathway of life.

MILLVILLE FARMER'S INSTITUTE.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 29.

The third annual meeting of the Millville Farmers' Institute came to order at the appointed time, when Chandlee Eves was chosen president, Dr. A. P. Heller and E. T. Eves, vice presidents; Miss Georgia Eves, secretary; I. B. Ikeler, assistant secretary. The prevalence of the epidemic, La Grippe, in the community, interfered somewhat with the program at the opening yet there was no lack of interest in the meeting or material to fill the vacancies thus caused.

In the absence of music, and the essayist for the evening, E. M. Tewksbury was called upon to explain the origin of farmers' Institutes. He said they were a sort of off-shot of the State Board of Agriculture, which had been in existence about fifteen years, and were calculated to get everybody interested. These institutes have set people to thinking, have developed a home interest and a home talent.

N. W. Northup followed with a few remarks upon the same subject, referring to the various epithets applied to farmers. Institutes, he said, are not generally understood throughout the State, but they are waking up the people.

Mr. John A. Woodward was then introduced, who said this particular phase of education is the work of the State. He referred to his first efforts to bring about these institutes, and expressed gratifications at meeting such a large audience.

Neither of the speakers occupied more than ten minutes, but each showed clearly that these gatherings were for the purpose of instructing the farmers, and that they were accomplishing their purpose.

The audience was then treated to a song by A. C. Sisson—"The Bridge"—Miss Stadler at the organ.

At the conclusion of the music, Dr. Warren, having his specimens of birds arranged, proceeded to describe their habits, telling which were beneficial to the farmer, and which were not, occupying about a half an hours' time

Closed with a song by A. C. Sisson.

THURSDAY MORNING

The morning session was opened by Mr. A. C. Sisson singing "The Plow Boy," who was loudly applauded.

Miss Tewksbury read an essay entitled "A Plea for the Farmer," which was listened to with deep interest and was loudly applauded.

Mr. Northup made a few remarks which were followed by E. M. Tewksbury and A. C. Sisson, all endorsing the sentiments contained in the essay. The remarks contained pleasantries which called forth considerable laughter.

Ginghams, Gloriosas, and India Silks are the tulips, crocuses, and hyacinths of the Dry Goods Trade, the heralds, the avent courriers of Spring. The India Silks bloomed last week. You know the merits of the honest hand-loom work, strong and thin, with some magical quality in the fabric that gives the French printer a basis for color and effect entirely unique. The styles are plain and brilliant, with all sorts of designs, and the prices are from 75 cents to $2.50. We show this first arrival, not keeping them until their followers are here. The Atlantic is in a turbulent mood, the ships are slow. We'll tell you when the others come.

WANAMAKER'S.

You remember the "Long Dollar" Blankets? What a price racket it and a couple of its fellows kicked up last fall! The Blanket sensation of the year. There was asking and asking for them a month after the sale closed.

But here's the "Long Dollar" Blanket again. Just as big, and warm, and heavy as before, and at the old price—three dollars and a quarter the pair. 70x84 inches, five pounds on the scales Clean, springy wool—all but the dozen ounces of cotton warp that neither eyes nor fingers suspect.

Another Blanket just as remarkable. Every thread fine wool—seven and a half pounds of it. Generous in every way. Try the yardstick—84x90 inches Thick, soft, a veritable Blizzard Blanket. We have thought it good value at $11.75 the pair. To-day the price is $9.75! Each Blanket of the pair is bound separately.

The 90x96 inches "Tuck-in" Blankets at $7.50; the famous $5-6½-pounds-of-wool Blankets, and a dozen other sorts $1.25 to $30 a pair round out the most attractive Blanket stock we know of.

You don't want a Carpet Sweeper that barks the furniture or brushes the life out of the carpet, or kicks up dust instead of gathering it, or lops its handle about for you to trip over. You may come across that sort under one name or another. Pass on; remember there's a Wanamaker Sweeper. It comes as near to doing "broom work" as a machine can. No noise, no drag on you to run it, almost sucks the dust up, dumps with a touch, brush just skims or digs in as you press light or heavy on the handle. You'll say it monopolises the Sweeper virtues. And the price is but $3!

Fine Engravings, Artotypes tractive showing of these things to be found in town.

The special bargains include $2.50 Framed Artotypes, 16x20 inches, at $1.50; same, 19x25 inches, $2, usual price outside $3. A great number of very interesting subjects in this collection.

A line of Water Colors by leading American artists is a feature of the display.

CONSUMPTION,

IN its first stages, can be successfully checked by the prompt use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Even in the later periods of that disease, the cough is wonderfully relieved by this medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral with the best effect in my practice. This wonderful preparation once saved my life. I had a constant cough, night sweats, was greatly reduced in flesh, and given up by my physician. One bottle and a half of the Pectoral cured me."—A. J. Eidson, M. D., Middleton, Tennessee.

"Several years ago I was severely ill. The doctors said I was in consumption, and that they could do nothing for me, but advised me, as a last resort, to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking this medicine two or three months I was cured, and my health remains good to the present day."—James Birchard, Darien, Conn.

"Several years ago, on a passage home from California, by water, I contracted so severe a cold that for some days I was confined to my state-room, and a physician on board considered my life in danger. Happening to have a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, I used it freely, and my lungs were soon restored to a healthy condition. Since then I have invariably recommended this preparation."—J. B. The Direct Tax Bill.

IT PASSES THE SENATE—WHAT PENNSYLVANIA WILL RECEIVE.

The bill known as the Direct Tax bill, which was passed by the last Congress and vetoed by President Cleveland, has been passed again by the Senate. There was considerable discussion over it. Mr. Sherman stated that it was exactly the same, word for word as the one which passed the last Congress and that it had received the unanimous vote of the Finance Committee. Mr. Vest and Mr. Berry both declared their unaltered opposition to the measure The bill passed the Senate by a vote of forty-four to seven.

The bill makes it the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to credit to each state and territory a sum equal to all the collections made from the states and territories under the act of Congress approved August 5, 1861. There is no doubt that the bill will pass the House, and there is no reason to believe that it will encounter a vetoe from President Harrison. In the last Congress, after the bill had been vetoed by President Cleveland, on constitutional grounds, it was passed again by the Senate, but its consideration in the House was prevented by objection.

Under the bill the total amount to be returned to the various states will be $15,227,632,05. This amount is exclusive of the 15 per cent. commissions which were allowed to the states or to those who paid the tax. The amount which Pennsylvania will receive under the bill is also exclusive of commissions, $1,654,711,43. This is a larger amount than any other state will receive except New York, whose claim amounts to $2,213,330,86. Ohio ranks next to that of Pennsylvania being $1,332,025,93. Delaware will receive $70,332,83 and New Jersey $382,614,83. Mr. Sherman has said of this Direct Tax bill:

"Probably there never was a bill upon the State calender which has been more throughly considered. The bill scarcely raises a constitutional question It involves simply a disposition of public money. It is simply to restore money to some of the states who paid the tax, and relieve other States who did not bear their share of the burden.

The Railroad Duplex Ticket.

THE LEGAITY OF THE SURCHARGE SUPPORTED BY THE SUPREME COURT.

In the suit of Reese against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, appealed from Common Pleas Court No2 of Allegany county, made the first Pennsylvania decision upon an interesting question of railroad law. The charter of the Pennsylvania Railroad provides that in the transporation of way passengers no charge exceeding 3½ cents a mile shall be made. The distance from East Liberty to the Union Depot in Pittsburg is four and a half miles and the regular fare is 14 cents.

Reese boarded a train without having purchased a ticket, and the conductor insisted upon his paying an additional ten cents, for which he tendered him the ordinary refunding slip. It was claimed on Rees's behalf, that this extra ten cents would make the fare for the four and a half miles twenty-four cents, thereby violating the charter of the company, and that the regulation requiring the payment of excessive fare by passengers without tickets was unreasonable and illegal.

The Supreme Court holds, in an opinion delivered by Judge Mitchell, Judge Sterret dissenting, that where a railroad company gives passengers a convenient place and opportunity for buying tickets before entering a train and if they omit to do so, the regulation that they shall be charged an excess over the regular fare, to be afterward refunded, is a reasonable regulation, and the exacting of such excess is not a "charge," and cannot be regarded as any part of the regular rate of fare.

Crazed By Drink.

A CENTRALIA MAN THE VICTIM OF A DEBAUCH.

The Ashland Advocate gives the following particulars of the death of a resident of Centralia, which occured a week ago Friday. John Haffey, a miner employed at Logan colliery had been on a debauch for two weeks and on Friday night he was seized with delerium tremens. He was a man who has dissipated considerably during his life time, and for several days he had been in a bad way. On one occasion he traveled from his home to the mines in a nude condition and roamed about the town and woods in a half bewildered frame of mind. On Friday morning Haffey went to the home of Charles McGuire, who was married to his sister. While there he got an attack of poker and his sister sent to the store for a bottle of laudanum, and gave it to Haffey to quiet his nerves and put him to sleep, but it did not seem to have that effect, notwithstanding that the dose adminstered was about half ounce After indulging again in the flowing bowl, Haffey returned to McGuire's house and laid down to sleep when he was taken with convulsions. Dr. Gwinner was sent for and soon reached the man, who was in a very bad way. He prescribed some medicine but the unfortunate fellow took but one dose, when death relieved him of his sufferings. Rev. Father Simpson was summoned before Haffey expired and administered the rites of the church. Deceased was 39 years of age. He had resided in Centralia for the past 22 years and leaves a wife and four small children to mourn his loss. Dr. Gwinner viewed the body on Sunday. He cannot state positively what caused Haffey s death. He says that poisoned by laudanum and poisoned by lesions of alcohol are about one and the same thing, and he doubted whether a post mortem would throw any light on the matter. Deputy Coroner Welsh empaneled a jury as follows: Martin Welsh,Jas. Thompson Patrick Conway, Patrick Rowan, Jas. Quigley and Richand Benson, who held an inquest on the remains Monday afternoon.

Electricity's Microbe.

A MYSTERY WHOSE SOLUTION WILL REVOLUTIONIZE THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

With all the paraphernalia of the modern physical and electrical laboratory, the instruments of precision that will handle a millionth of an inch as readily as a laborer his pick and shovel with all the evolution going on through generations of scientists, and the almost incessant wrestling of secrets from the bosom of nature, we doubt if science is any closer to the isolation or attenuation of the microbe of the magnet. It is absurd to suppose that a primary energy is impressed upon a piece of hardened steel once for all. The transfer of that energy into actual work mould destruction not only does not take place, but the very exercise of the power strengthens the magnet. A horseshoe of steel may be magnetized in ten seconds by the current of a few amperes from a battery, a ridiculously small amount of energy all told and such magnet can lift many pounds of iron in contact. But without a contact it may lift and hold a pound of iron easily. It will hold that pound for an eternity, and every second of that time without end the magnet is expending energy until it foots up an almost inconceivable total of actual power. Not alone that, but the magnet of one pound lifting power to-day may and will be stronger to-morrow.

Where does all this really tremendous amount of energy come from? By what inscrutable process does the mere magnetization of a bar of steel make of it a machine for the transformation of energy? Not a reactionary or storage device which like a steel spring, honestly gives back approximately all it has received, but a perpetual transforming or converting machine. There is a hidden process going on of some kind; energy is going into the magnet all the time it is doing work—energy in some form Where does it come from—gravity? atmosphere? solar rays? earth currents? Who can say it is a great problem, worthy of a lifetime of indefatigable research. It is a microbe, and it will be discovered, and the discovery will make electricity the queen of nature's forces, and steam will become a dim vision of the dark ages of the past.—Electrical Review.

What a Visit to the Queen Means.

It is a mistake to suppose that the Queen's guests at Windsor Castle have any opportunity for protracted or confidential communication with Her Majesty, except such Ministers as have audiences. The visitors arrive at the castle about seven o'clock, retire to their respective rooms and assemble in the corridors in full dress at half-past eight. The Queen presently enters from her private apartment, and after bowing to the company, and perhaps speaking a few words to one or two friends, she goes into the dining room followed by the guests. After dinner, during which the conversation, as a matter of course, is to the last degree vapid and commonplace, the company return to the corridor, and then the Queen speaks for a few minutes to each person in turn, and then bows to the circle and retires, after which the party proceeds to one of the drawing-rooms for cards or music, and the men ultimately find themselves in the smoking room, which is a very comfortable apartment. Next morning the guests leave the castle after breakfast, and they depart without having again seen the Queen, who takes her meal alone in her own private rooms.—Edmund Yates in London World.

To Relieve The Courts.

A MEASURE TO STOP DELAY IN THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

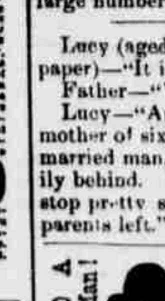

The Judiciary Committee of the House expects to report within a few days a bill to afford some relief to the overburdened United States courts. The importance of some change in the judicial system which will enable the courts, and especially the Supreme Court, to dispose of the large number of cases now accumulated, and decide current cases as they shall come up on the docket, can hardly be exaggerated. Numerous plans have been suggested, and a number of bills on the subject have been introduced in both branches of Congress.

The measure the Judiciary Committee now has under consideration was one introduced by Mr. Rogers. It proposes to withdraw original jurisdiction from the Circuit Courts, and made them courts of appeal, to decide cases taken up from the District Courts. The Committee has not finished consideration of the bill but it is determined to find a remedy for the crying evil of delay in the administration of justice in some of the circuit courts and in the Supreme Court, an evil which amounts practically to a denial of justice in a large number of cases.

JUDGE YERKES SUSTAINS THE INDICTMENT AGAINST A. NELSON LEWIS.

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 27.—An opinion was handed down to-day by Judge Yerkes in the case of the Commonwealth vs. A. Nelson Lewis, who is a member of the Philadelphia Gun Club, an organization whose members are accustomed to enjoy pigeon shooting matches at Andalusia, Bucks County. Mr. Lewis was indicted for cruelty to animals by a jury at the December term of court.

The defendant was indicted under the first section of the Act of March 29, 1869, which provides that any person who shall "wantonly or cruelly ill treat, overload, beat, or otherwise abuse any animal shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor." The court in its opinion says:

"By the act the legislature intended to bring all brute creation under the shelter of the law. The present act includes any animal being which is not human, endowed with the power of voluntary motion. To make out the offense the Commonwealth must show first that the pigeon was ill-treated or abused.

Second—That the manner of the treatment was wanton or cruel. One of the pigeons was wounded and alighted upon a tree, and as soon as its wounded condition was discovered it was killed. Our conclusion is that wanton or cruel ill-treatment or abuse of an animal occurs when pain is inflicted without necessity or good reason to justify the act. That while a reason may exist for the infliction of pain, because of necessity so as not to bring the case within the statute, yet the necessity must be such as warrants the act; the object to be attained must be in proportion to the means used, must justify it, must be adequate.

IS SHOOTING JUSTIFIABLE!

"We are now brought to the question whether the object to be attained created an adequate reason or necessity for subjecting the pigeon to the pain and punishment inflicted upon it? According to the finding of the jury it was primarily for test of skill in marksmanship, secondarily to prepare the bird for sale for food. Conceding that those recreations which serve as manly excercises are conducive to soldierly qualities, is shooting pigeons from traps the recreation calculated to best promote those qualities? Courage, endurance and steady marksmanship are amongst the most necessary acquirements of the good soldier. It would be offensive to any citizen possessed of a spark of manhood to assert that his courge had fallen to so low an ebb as to require the excerise of shooting at helpless tame pigeons to qualify him to meet a foe in mortal combat. The army regulations do not provide for tests of marksmanship with shot guns, but with the rifle and ball. All the states use the rifle range and target practice with fixed ammunition as the best adopted to train men as soldiers. We are therefore bound to conclude that test of skill at marksmanship is not such a necessary or adequate object as will compensate for the infliction of pain by wounding pigeons at trap shooting. We cannot agree that the demands of fashionable sport warrant the practice.

THE WHIMS OF FASHION.

"In Ford vs. Wiley J. Hawkins, said that while docking horses might be justified, he held a very strong opinion against allowing fashion or the whim of an individual or any number of individuals to afford a justification for such painful mutilation and disfigurement. Here is where an important distinction arises as affecting the manner of killing captive or tame animals. The right of man to kill in order to render the animal more serviceable for his use is undisputed, therefor one may inflict such pain and suffering as may be necessary to kill the animal for his use for food without being chargeable with cruelty. He may shoot or otherwise take animals in their wild state, although it may result in lingering pain because the animals, not being within his control. it is the only practicable way to obtain their use. In such case necessity justifies the probable infliction of pain.

"But when an animal is in captivity, man in the exercise of his right to kill is required to use such methods, having them in his power, as will avoid unnecessarily prolonged pain. All the cases cited agree to this proposition. From these considerations we are of the opinion that upon the facts of the special verdict the defendant is guilty in manner and form as he stands indicted.

"And now, to wit, Jan. 27, 1890, the court find and adjudge upon the special finding of fact by the jury that the defendant, A. Nelson Lewis, is guilty in manner and form as he stands indicted.

The Voice of the People on Wine.

It is a well known fact that wines above all other liquors are grossly adulterated, but when a pure article is placed on the market and people find it out to be pure, they all with one voice recommend it. The Port Grape Wine from the vineyards of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J., has received the unqualified endorsement of the medical faculty and of thousands of invalids who have been won back to health by their use. For sale by druggists.

Good Minister (awaiting the appearance of the lady of the house)—"What is that, my little dear?"

Little Girl—My apron. I's goin' to put it in the wash. Mamma got it all dirty."

"She did?"

"Yes, sir; she grabbed it up just now, to dust off the bible."—New York Weekly.

CATARRH, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

A NEW HOME TREATMENT.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks. N. B.—For catarrhal discharges peculiar to females (whites) this remedy is a specific. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of ten cents by A. H. DIXON & SON, 304 West King St., Toronto, Canada.—Scientific American.

Sufferers from catarrhal troubles should read the above carefully.
